

Video Websites

By Bill Frick

On the websites for the major TV networks you can watch episodes of your favorite shows that you may have missed.

ABC <http://abc.go.com/>
CBS <http://www.cbs.com/>
FOX <http://www.fox.com/>
NBC <http://www.nbc.com/>

NBC and FOX have teamed to build a website, HULU, that has videos from both networks, as well as TV shows and movies from Sony and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. I have found that, in some cases, this was a better place to visit than the two networks websites.

HULU <http://www.hulu.com/>

Here are two websites with old TV shows and Movies

LikeTelevision <http://tesla.liketelevision.com/>
TV Land <http://www.tvland.com/>

Here is another website with TV show and movies

VEOH <http://www.veoh.com/>
DailyMotion <http://www.dailymotion.com/us>

And, if those websites don't meet your needs, try the VIDEO MENU website linked below. It has a list of Video websites.

VIDEO MENU <http://www.videomenu.com/>

To search for videos you can use the Google and Yahoo search engines.

Google <http://video.google.com/videoadvancedsearch>
Yahoo <http://video.yahoo.com/>
